Translational treatments: advances in renal transplantation

Published on Wednesday July 27, 2011
View online: https://www.france-science.org/Translational-treatments-advances.html

- Where: The Dobbs University Center (DUC), Emory University, 605 Asbury Circle, Winship Ballroom – 3rd Floor, Atlanta, GA 30322.
- When: November 3, 8:00 a.m.

A one-day symposium on the lastest research in kidney transplant will be organized with doctors from Necker, Nantes, Toulouse and Emory Hospitals.

The Emory Transplant Center at Emory University will host French and American immunologists and transplant physicians who will address critical topics in the care of renal transplant patients in a one day conference. Distinguished research scholars will give presentations, share ideas, and compare the best practices in the diagnosis and management of patients with kidney failure being treated with transplantation. Emerging needs in the field will be defined and plans developed on the optimal research approaches to address these challenges.