NASA Academy - Call for applications

Published on Tuesday January 10, 2012
View online: https://www.france-science.org/NASA-Academy-Call-for-students.html

The Centre National d’Etudes Spatiales (CNES) and the Office for Science and Technology at the Embassy of France in the United States are sponsoring students to attend the 2012 NASA Academy at Ames Research Center in California for one year.

Through the International Space Education Board (ISEB), established by NASA, ESA, JAXA and CSA (with CNES as a member), CNES is able to offer French students the opportunity to take part in the prestigious NASA Academy.

The application deadline is February 3rd, 2012 (midnight CET). The results of the selection process will be announced in March 2012.

For more information, please read this article (in French).