Professor Edward A. Dennis (UCSD) is awarded the honorary degree of Docteur Honoris Causa from INSA Lyon

Published on Thursday February 27, 2014
View online: https://www.france-science.org/Professor-Edward-A-Dennis-UCSD-is.html

During the Research Day “Global Health and Bioengineering” at INSA Lyon on Thursday February 6th, 2014, Eric Maurincomme (in French), Director of INSA Lyon, and Michel Lagarde (in French), assistant director of INSA Lyon, awarded the honorary degree of Docteur Honoris Causa to Dr. Edward A. Dennis, distinguished professor of Chemistry, Biochemistry and Pharmacology at University of California, San Diego (UCSD).

From left to right: Michel Lagarde, Eric Maurincomme and Edward A. Dennis

This title honors over forty years of hard work accomplished by Prof. Dennis in the field of lipidomics, conferring him international recognition.

— Viviane Chansavang

Program of the Research Day “Global Health and Bioengineering” (in French)

Biography of Dr. Edward A. Dennis

Speech delivered by Michel Lagarde, assistant director of INSA Lyon