Brigitte Gicquel wins the Institut Pasteur’s Georges, Jacques and Elias Canetti Award

Published on Friday March 21, 2008
View online: https://www.france-science.org/Brigitte-Gicquel-wins-the-Institut.html

Brigitte Gicquel, head of the Mycobacterial Genetics Team at the Institut Pasteur has won the Georges, Jacques et Elias Canetti Award for 2008. This prize was created in 2006 in homage to Georges Canetti, a specialist in tuberculosis who spent his career at the Institut Pasteur, and it helps support the Institut’s research teams working on that illness. A prize of 10,000 euros was awarded on March 19, in honor of the World Tuberculosis Day (March 24).

Learn more by reading the Institut Pasteur press release (in French).