A Commission Communication on improving knowledge transfer between research institutions and industry across Europe urges for better exploitation of research results to generate more innovation and increase EU industries' competitiveness. Voluntary guidelines for universities and other research institutions are annexed to the Communication.

Learn more here.