

Café des Sciences SF #1 with Anne-Gaëlle Jacquin and Céline Schiff-Deb: The algae, a family full of promises

Published on Monday March 30, 2015

View online : <https://www.france-science.org/Cafe-des-Sciences-SF-1-with-Anne.html>

The Office for Science & Technology at the Consulate of France in San Francisco is pleased to announce the first "Café des Sciences" at the Residence of France in San Francisco on April 2, 2015 at 6:30pm. Anne-Gaëlle Jacquin, marine biologist and Céline Schiff-Deb, PhD in plant genetics, will present "The algae, a family full of promises". A networking session will follow the presentation.

- When: Thursday April 2 at 6:30pm
- Where: Residence of France in San Francisco, 100 Edgewood Ave San Francisco, CA 94117 (Map)
- Presentation in French
- Contact: philippe.perez@ambascience-usa.org

About the speakers

Anne-Gaëlle Jacquin

Anne-Gaëlle Jacquin, PhD in Marine Biology in algal biotechnology, is founder of the "The Algonauts' Road", a round the world tour on algal innovations.

Céline Schiff-Deb

Céline Schiff-Deb, PhD in Molecular Biology, is Director, Marketing and Insights at Solazyme, a San Francisco based company producing high-performance oils and ingredients derived from microalgae.