On April 4 at the Embassy of the United-States of America to France, the President of CNES Mr. Jean-Yves Le Gall met the Ambassador of the United States of America, Ms. Jamie McCourt, who took office at the end of 2017.

The meeting has been the opportunity for the President of CNES to recall the strong cooperation linking the two countries in the space domain, which will be exemplified once again very soon with the upcoming launch of the Insight rover from California on May 5 (the main instrument, the SEIS seismometer, is delivered by CNES), and to invite the Ambassador to visit the Toulouse Space Center, in particular the operations center of the missions to Mars, Mars Science Laboratory (MSL), and InSight.
